Figure 1. The proposed model for the development of the self-regulation of learning. The model illustrates the relationship between self-regulation of learning and various factors. The central concept is 'Self-regulation of learning', which is influenced by 'Metacognitive skills' and 'Metacognitive strategies'. These factors are further influenced by 'Metacognitive knowledge' and 'Metacognitive beliefs'. The model also shows the influence of 'Metacognitive beliefs' on 'Metacognitive skills' and 'Metacognitive strategies'. The model is based on the work of Flavell (1976) and Zimmerman (1989).
